With around 34,000 enrolled students, 10,000 corporate partners and more than 152,000 graduates, DHBW counts as one of the largest higher education institutions in Baden-Wuerttemberg. Throughout its various study locations, the institution offers a broad range of undergraduate study programs in the field of business, engineering, and social work. All degree programs are both nationally and internationally accredited, count as intensive study programs and are worth 210 ECTS credits. In addition, DHBW offers postgraduate degree programs with integrated on-the-job training.

International outlook is a crucial aspect of future-oriented studies and extremely significant for a successful career start. With an increasingly international curriculum, DHBW promotes cooperation with numerous companies, social institutions and renowned universities all over the world. We welcome international students and academic staff from abroad. Prospective international students can choose from a variety of study programs offered entirely in English. These include programs lasting either one semester or a full academic year, or three-year undergraduate degree courses. There are also numerous study opportunities for those who are interested in summer sessions or short-term programs.
THE DUAL STUDY CONCEPT

The core principle of the dual education at DHBW is the three-month rhythm, by which students switch between university and their workplace training provider, i.e. between gaining theoretical knowledge and applying this knowledge in practice. Students are employed at a company or a social institution and receive a monthly salary, including social security benefits.

Academic theory and workplace training are closely coordinated and incorporate current developments.

This approach allows students to gain professional experience and social skills required in everyday working life during their studies. They receive projects and assignments according to their growing abilities and develop their skills under the supervision of more experienced co-workers. With the professional expertise acquired during the training phases, DHBW graduates are also able to cope with challenging tasks particularly in their specific field already immediately after completion of the studies and without the need for further training. Given this combination of theoretical and practical knowledge, graduates are able to work in any type of industrial enterprise, in any field of business activity, and at any level of corporate hierarchy.
ADVANTAGES OF THE DUAL STUDIES

The world economy is intertwined as never before. Modern communications systems hardly allow any business to function solely on a national level. No matter in which sector one works, internationally trained employees are in great demand. Those who wish to be better prepared for the future and to assume positions of responsibility upon completion of their studies, study internationally and opt for the practice-oriented dual studies.

Dual education with integrated workplace training comprises a great variety of advantage factors essential for successful learning.

• INDIVIDUAL SUPERVISION AND SUPPORT
  Small classes of no more than 30 students guarantee intensive supervision and enable the use of modern teaching methods such as seminars, workshops, business simulations, empirical studies or computer-aided teaching. Being the key features of efficient learning, these conditions encourage motivation and contribute to successful learning outcomes.

• UP-TO-DATE KNOWLEDGE
  Courses are taught by full-time lecturers of the Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University, guest lecturers from partner universities, as well as highly qualified experts from partner companies and social institutions. Thus all teach within their field of competence, only cutting-edge expertise and up-to-date knowledge is provided to DHBW students.

• INTENSIVE STUDIES
  Phases of academic studies and workplace training alternate in regular three-month intervals, ensuring both pace and variety throughout all study programs. Due to the regular switch between theoretical and practical phases, the studies are explicitly intensive.

• INTERNATIONAL OUTLOOK
  DHBW promotes cooperation with numerous companies, social institutions and renowned universities all over the world. With a great diversity of international students, the learning environment at Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University has a distinctively international spirit.

DHBW graduates are able to work constructively with experts from different fields. They keep their knowledge up to date and are ready to learn from experience. The practical nature of dual education is an advantage, as is the mutual screening between employers and employees during training. Opting for the dual system, one chooses a safe future. The practice-integrated concept ensures that the graduates are highly employable, which is clearly demonstrated by the recruitment rate – more than 90 per cent of the DHBW graduates receive a job placement immediately after completion of their studies.
Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University Heidenheim offers a wide range of programs in the field of business, engineering and social work. Generally classes are taught in German, but the university also offers English-taught classes to welcome international students into the student body.

To go in line with the dual studies model, international students can attend classes at the university and afterwards add an internship or a work placement at one of the partner companies.

DHBW Heidenheim offers international students the opportunity to participate in a one-semester intensive program held entirely in English. International students will be offered a selection of English-taught lectures within the field of business administration, enabling them to study in an enjoyable and distinctly international atmosphere.

The program is aimed at familiarizing students from abroad with Germany and its internationally oriented market, while developing their skills in international business and intercultural communication. Starting with an optional intensive German course either in Freiburg or in Heidelberg, the program is rounded off by an optional work placement after the completion of semester.

In addition to the academic coursework, DHBW Heidenheim also offers a broad and diverse cultural program. Students will have the chance to see Berlin, Stuttgart, Munich and Heidelberg.
Established in 2010, DHBW Heilbronn is the newest location of the Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University. It focuses on the actual requirements of the labor market due to the system of dual education. The university is located on the modern, spacious Dieter Schwarz Foundation campus in the center of Heilbronn. It represents the new Heilbronn as a bustling hub of learning and modern technology.

Heilbronn is the economic center of the important Heilbronn-Franken region and belongs to the Stuttgart metropolitan region. Numerous global market leaders and dynamic innovators are based here. The city is also located in one of the largest wine-growing regions.

Students from around the globe are welcome to join the university’s community for an enriching academic and cultural experience in Germany. Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University Heilbronn offers business students from partner institutions as well as full-time degree students of DHBW Heilbronn the opportunity to enroll in the Junior Program of Business Administration – an intensive one-semester international and intercultural program taught entirely in English. Small classes and intensive supervision help international students to adjust to life on campus and in Germany.

Exchange students will benefit from a stimulating, creative learning environment on a modern campus with state-of-the-art facilities. They will not only obtain in-depth knowledge in international business but also be able to learn to work efficiently in multinational teams and acquire crucial intercultural key skills. Living and studying in an economically and culturally vibrant, cosmopolitan city will make the stay an unforgettable educational experience.

Apart from the intensive academic coursework, a broad and diverse cultural program will be offered. International students will have the chance to discover one of Germany’s most beautiful regions on day trips to nearby highlights, such as the automotive city of Stuttgart and the university city of Heidelberg.
Situated in the Rhine plain, Karlsruhe enjoys a pleasant climate and has the reputation of Germany’s second warmest city. Karlsruhe technology region is a world-renowned center of high-tech industry and innovation.

Around 3,000 students are currently enrolled at the Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University Karlsruhe in the field of business administration, engineering and computer science. All study programs offered at the university qualify for credits under the European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System (ECTS) in accordance with the Bologna Process.

DHBW Karlsruhe offers all international students the opportunity to freely attend courses open to German students. Interdisciplinary lectures in English are offered during the winter (from mid-September till the end of December) and the summer term (from mid-March till the end of June). One can also choose from a wide variety of language courses in German, French, Spanish and other languages on offer.

STUDYING AT DHBW KARLSRUHE MEANS:

- Living in one of the most exciting German regions, known for its outstanding achievements in science and technology
- Studying in an international environment
- Enjoying the mild climate of the Rhine valley

International exchange students may intern at one of the university’s partner companies that provide the workplace training, however internship cannot be guaranteed to all students. The placement depends on personal and language qualifications of the student.

Intensive short-term study programs are regularly offered to exchange students from partner universities. The study period is two weeks. The programs cover subjects in the field of international business and related areas, enabling exchange students to study in an enjoyable and distinctly international atmosphere. Programs are rounded off by cultural activities and outdoor sessions. Students will have the chance to take part in guided tours of partner companies.
LOERRACH
Baden-Württemberg Cooperative State University
Duale Hochschule Baden-Württemberg (DHBW)

Privileged by its site in the heart of the tri-border area of Germany, Switzerland and France, the so-called Dreiländereck, Baden-Württemberg Cooperative State University Loerrach guarantees a thoroughly multicultural learning environment to all its students. About 20 percent of the students have an international background. They are attracted not only to the university’s high level of academic standard, but also to the special geographical location and to the broad and encompassing range of various multilingual courses.

Baden-Württemberg Cooperative State University Loerrach welcomes all international students, whether they decide to enroll on a regular basis or to come to Loerrach as exchange students of partner universities. A wide range of various international and exchange programs has been established at DHBW Loerrach over the past 20 years.

To meet the needs of partner companies for an increasing number of internationally educated and experienced employees, DHBW Loerrach offers an undergraduate study program in International Business which is entirely taught in English. Comprising a total of six semesters, it is split into theoretical phases spent at DHBW Loerrach and practical phases spent at a workplace training provider of the student’s choice. A period of at least one semester spent abroad is compulsory. The study program is aimed at international and German students with a good command of the English language.

Exchange students with little or no command of German are offered to sign up for the International Campus Program. The program runs from September to December (Term 1) and from January to April (Term 2). Exchange students will be offered a wide range of business courses in English, including business simulation games and business workshops. The program is rounded off by outdoor sessions and cultural activities. Students are welcome to stay for either one or two semesters.

DHBW Loerrach encourages international exchange of students and staff and thus, offers a wide variety of language courses taught by native speakers. In addition, students have access to application assistance and international student orientation services, offered by the International Office.
Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University Mannheim is one of Germany’s largest and best-known locations for career-integrated degree programs. The university is split up into two schools: the Business School, rendering 19 diverse degree courses and a wide range of different fields of study and the School of Engineering, which has seven study programs on offer.

The Business School of DHBW Mannheim offers degree courses within the field of business administration, computer science and business media. Students acquire a comprehensive understanding of both the theoretical and the practical ability as goal-oriented implementations. Additionally, the provision of key skills, personal development and cross-cultural competences are important building blocks of the offered study programs. The School of Engineering has a broad spectrum of degree courses within the field of information technology and engineering to offer.

Education at Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University Mannheim implies that academic studies are combined with workplace training, thus, theory closely intertwines with practice. International students willing to intern at any of the partner companies of DHBW Mannheim will surely benefit from the encompassing database of workplace training providers.

The university is characterized by an efficient organizational structure and a broad offer of student support services, offered by the International Office. All facilities ensure successful and enjoyable learning. There is a comprehensive library, a data processing center, student canteens and a cafeteria at students’ disposal.

Apart from the intensive academic studies and workshops, DHBW Mannheim offers a broad cultural program and organizes various social and sports events. As part of the cultural program, students will have the possibility to visit the historical city of Speyer and explore the secrets of one of Germany’s best wine producing areas.
Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University Mosbach was founded in 1980 as Berufsakademie Mosbach. It started with 18 students in the Department of Management in Industry, but in the meantime has extended to 24 departments with no less than 3,700 enrolled students. More than 1,100 companies from Baden-Wuerttemberg, as well as other German Federal States cooperate with the university.

Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University Mosbach is divided into two campuses: DHBW Campus Mosbach and DHBW Campus Bad Mergentheim. Located in the Odenwald (Mosbach) and Taubertal (Bad Mergentheim), both towns are situated at famous touristic routes, Mosbach – at Castle Road and Bad Mergentheim – at Romantic Road. Beautiful scenery, fascinating heritage attractions and the warm-hearted coziness of small towns make Mosbach and Bad Mergentheim extremely attractive for living and studying.

Entirely held in English the International Program in Business and International Program in Engineering are intensive one- or two-semester study programs offering both exchange students from partner universities and selected full-time degree students of DHBW Mosbach the opportunity to receive an internationally inspired education, while blending into a melting pot of different participants from all over the world.

Programs are aimed at broadening the students’ knowledge in a wide range of international business and engineering related topics, while helping them develop their communication and intercultural skills.

International students will be provided with an opportunity to learn about Germany, its language and its culture, as well as Germany’s internationally oriented economy. Programs are rounded off by various outdoor sessions and cultural activities.
RAVENSBURG
Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University
Duale Hochschule Baden-Württemberg (DHBW)

Situated in the heart of the German Lake Constance region called Upper Swabia (Oberschwaben), Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University Ravensburg is divided into two campuses – Campus Ravensburg and Campus Friedrichshafen. The immensely attractive region is known for its mild climate and beautiful scenery, as well as its strong economy and highly developed infrastructure. It offers numerous leisure facilities, a vibrant and varied nightlife, as well as superb heritage attractions.

Exchange students from partner universities will have the opportunity to enroll in the International Study Program which runs 4 times a year, starting in October, January, April or mid-June. Program duration is 3 to 12 months, while an optional extension is possible either from January to March or from June to September.

International students will be offered a wide range of final year courses of the undergraduate study program in International Business, which conveys knowledge on traditional subjects of business administration, such as financing, marketing, cost accounting and financial statement analysis.

In addition, lectures and seminars within the field of international business and intercultural management with a special emphasis on international marketing, as well as innovative information and communication technologies will be offered. Special Business English classes complement the wide range of subjects on offer. The program is rounded off by cultural activities.
STUTTGART
Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University
Duale Hochschule Baden-Württemberg (DHBW)

With around 8,800 students, Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University Stuttgart with its Campus Horb is among the largest universities in the Stuttgart and Upper Neckar regions. In cooperation with about 2,500 carefully selected companies and social institutions, DHBW Stuttgart offers more than 40 nationally and internationally approved undergraduate study programs. Their most important feature is that students regularly switch between theoretical phases at the university and practical phases by the workplace training provider. DHBW Stuttgart additionally offers postgraduate study programs with on-the-job training.

A large number of students at DHBW Stuttgart have the opportunity to spend either a theoretical or a practical phase of their studies abroad, exchange semesters being part of many study programs offered at the university. Students are also offered short-term programs, such as study tours and summer sessions, organized by the International Office of DHBW Stuttgart and the university’s departments. Many workplace training providers enable the students to gain an insight into the daily work of the companies and experience business and working life in Germany.

Encompassing a broad range of business, culture and computing related topics, the International Program in Business & Culture and International Program in Computing are open to both international students from partner universities and regular students of DHBW Stuttgart, enabling cross-cultural encounters.

Culture Connection is another highlight at the Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University Stuttgart. In order to encourage the integration of international exchange students and to familiarize them with the region, its people and its customs, the Culture Connection club provides the students with a program for their leisure time: day trips to attractive destinations in Baden-Wuerttemberg, factory tours of local companies, festivals and other seasonal highlights.

In summer DHBW Stuttgart becomes a meeting place for international students from partner universities: the Business Summer School offers a three-week program, encompassing lectures on business, culture, history, as well as various intercultural topics. Excursions to corporate partner companies and study trips are part of the intensive program.
Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University (DHBW)

VILLINGEN-SCHWENNINGEN
Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University
Duale Hochschule Baden-Württemberg (DHBW)

Cooperating actively with more than 50 partner universities worldwide, Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University Villingen-Schwenningen offers exceptional opportunities to students coming from abroad. International students will have a vast range of exciting study opportunities to choose from. They are free to visit regular German-taught lectures, given that their German language proficiency is at least B2 level or higher (according to the Common European Framework of Reference) or sign up for the English Course Offer and choose from a variety of English-taught lectures, seminars and workshops.

Lecturers at DHBW Villingen-Schwenningen have diverse cultural and professional backgrounds, thus contributing to an international atmosphere at the university. The English Course Offer at DHBW Villingen-Schwenningen is available over a period of 9 months, starting in October and ending in July. The program kicks off with an orientation seminar, offering an introduction to academic life in Germany. Orientation seminar is followed by the academic term. All courses offered are assessed by means of an exam, a written assignment, or a course project and therefore carry academic credits (ECTS). They cover a wide range of academic fields: from cross-cultural competences to international logistics and marketing management up to compulsory German language and Business English courses.

The university also offers groups of students from partner universities customized Intensive Study Programs. These are comprised of academic courses as well as cultural events in a time range of one or two weeks. The program can be a great introduction to studying abroad, enabling international students to learn more about DHBW Villingen-Schwenningen and the university’s diverse and open study environment.

Apart from the academic offer, students will also have the opportunity to apply for internships that are organized by DHBW VS and the university’s corporate partners. These are usually 3 – 6 months training periods available to students with at least B1 level of German.

DHBW Villingen-Schwenningen offers a varied program of cultural and social activities, including visits to partner companies and memorable excursions to the beautiful Black Forest.

DHBW VILLINGEN-SCHWENNINGEN
Intensive Study Program

LOCATION
DHBW Villingen-Schwenningen
Friedrich-Ebert-Straße 30
78054 Villingen-Schwenningen
www.dhbw-vs.de

STUDY PERIOD
Duration: 1 to 2 weeks, upon request

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION
Intensive study programs at DHBW Villingen-Schwenningen are customized one to two-week programs, organized for groups of interested students from partner universities (10 – 25 participants). Programs combine different academic methodologies such as lectures, round-table discussions, as well as group work and presentations in English and are rounded off by cultural activities and outdoor sessions.

International lecturers add to the open and diverse atmosphere; courses cover a wide academic field, from intercultural competence to economics, business administration and language classes – according to the wish of the visiting student group. Groups can choose from a variety of academic, corporate and cultural options for a challenging yet rewarding program. An interdisciplinary and international approach gives students the opportunity to mix and match their own program, combining technology and business related topics or IT and social networking in one course. Participants benefit from a program tailored to their needs, small groups and an interactive approach.

In addition to the academic courses, a broad and diverse cultural program will be offered. Students will have the opportunity to visit local enterprises and to go on trips to discover the beautiful Black Forest. Upon successful completion of the program students will be awarded a certificate.
